Wellness

Follow Us on Twitter

There seems to be lots of confusion out there regarding that funny word "Wellness." Most people have the idea that it refers to "feeling Well." Some people think that wellness is getting up every morning feeling good or experiencing little or no pain. In other words, when you feel well you are in fact healthy. Correct? Wrong! Wellness is not related to feeling well, it is related to how your body adapts to the everyday stresses of your life and your own internal workings. If it can adapt and handle everything that is going on inside you with nothing interfering with that process, then you are in fact healthy. You are well.

As chiropractors, our mission is to have your body function on that level. Being well is when your body is working at 100%. Everything is functioning, every, cell, every organ, and every nerve is firing- you are alive and your body is working exactly like it should. This is accomplished by eliminating any interference to that function. If any vertebra in your spine is subluxated, it will literally short circuit a part of your nervous system. You are not well. Wellness care is designed to have a person experience the very best they can be and maintain that level of health. How does that sound for your health and what you expect from yourself. Sounds great to us, and realize that we are just getting started, that is what we expect from everyone and we will help get you there!

It just makes sense!

Kids and Chiropractic

Why are we so adamant about seeing kids? Because we don't want them to grow up with the same problems as you.

Most of the problems we see in adults begin in childhood, even from the process of birth which can be very traumatic. Add to that the thousands of times your child will fall on their behinds, tumble off a bike or from the monkey bars, or knock themselves around while playing with their friends and they have got spinal trauma written all over them.

Is your child having frequent ear infections, colds, trouble breathing, sinus infections, allergies, difficulty concentrating, wetting the bed, growing pains, or any one of a hundred so-called "normal" childhood illnesses? If so, then we need to check them! Not because chiropractic is a treatment for these conditions, but because these symptoms can be the result of interference with the nerves that control certain glands and organs.

We have adjusted babies straight from the hospital. We have even adjusted babies in the hospital. No age is too young to get their first check up. Plus, chiropractic for infants and toddlers is safe and very gentle. They often sleep right through it.

THOT OF THE WEEK "If you continue to think as you always thought; you will continue to get what you have always got." - Anon

The practice of chiropractic, as anticipated by DD Palmer's Philosophy of Chiropractic, calls for much more than the use of a system of spinal mechanics. It requires a philosophy of correction that takes advantage of the fact there is a Resident Intelligence in the Body, which is expressed through the nervous system.
